Through These Portals . . .

In the course of each day we are continually passing through the portals of South Side. South has many kinds of doorways. There are the seven entrances into our school. In the morning we cross their thresholds, ready to meet the work of the day; and in the evening we return through them, tired and worn but laden with new knowledge with which to enrich our lives.

There are the doors into our classrooms, where we acquire the culture and skills of the world in which we live; into the gyms, where we build strong bodies and learn to compete fairly; and into the Greeley Room, where our clubs meet to provide fellowship and to teach cooperation.

Finally there are those invisible but nevertheless real portals of knowledge, inspiration, and experience. It is the passage through these doors which leads to a well-molded character and prepares us for a worthwhile life in society.

And the Skills of the Present . . .

This is the entrance to South Side's new annex, which was begun in the spring of '58 and completed in January '59. This new section houses some of the manual training classes, girls' athletic facilities, and a modern cafeteria.

To Build on a Sure Foundation . . .

Before school closed last year, work had already begun on the foundation for the new addition at the northeast corner. Bulldozers and cranes moved in and soon were uprooting trees and shoveling truckloads of earth. Then forms were laid and the foundation poured. While the Archers enjoyed easy summer days, work continued at school; and the erection of the walls progressed.

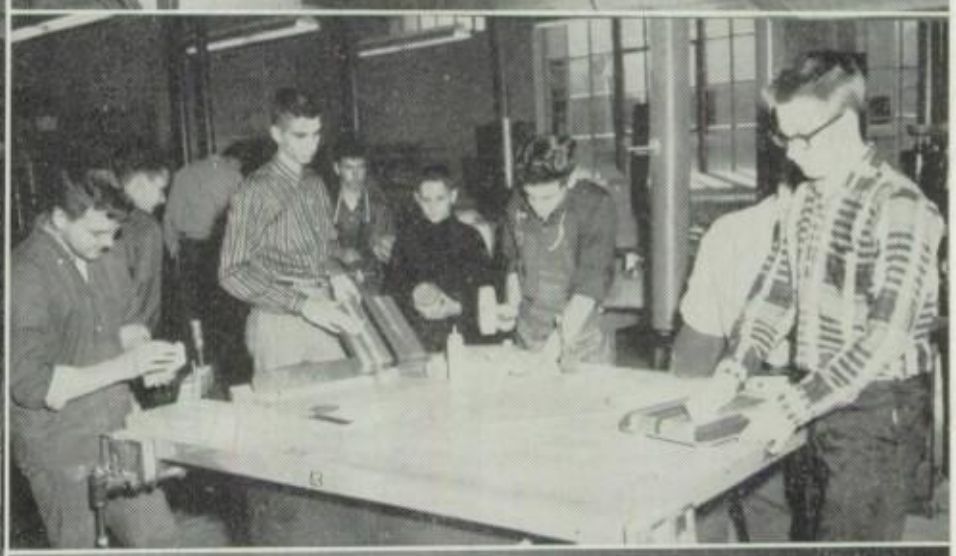
Workmen at the southeast end of the building labored at replacing the old stoker heating plant with a modern oil unit, as seen in the picture at the lower left.

A Life Structure . . .

By the time the students returned in the fall, the building was beginning to take form. The walls were completed, and girders were soon erected for the support of the roof.

In late autumn the door was finished, and final touches were placed on the exterior of the building.

By December the outside of the building was completed, and at Christmas time the Christmas tree over the new entrance was put up in keeping with the spirit of this happy time of the year.



Dedicated to the Progress of Man . . .

On January 25, the new addition was dedicated. The picture at the upper left shows the speakers for the ceremony. From left to right they are Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, who invited the guests to a reception at the close of the ceremony; James Jackson, attorney, who was the principal speaker; Sol Rothberg, attorney, who served as master of ceremonies; and Robert Wren, contractor, who gave the "presentation" of the building. Mr. Aaron T. Lindley, superintendent of schools, who is not pictured, gave the acceptance address. The choir, seen in the picture at the upper right, provided music and sang a special dedicatory song, "Bless This House." The classrooms were soon put to use, and things began to hum in the girls' exercise room, center left; the remodeled wood shop, center right; the cafeteria, lower left; and the locker areas of the hallways, lower right. It wasn't long until the new addition became a part of life at South.

Snaps

Upper left: "Look, Patsy!" says Miss Harvey as she shows the rubber bone the Times staff presented its mascot at Christmas.

Lower left: New freshmen search for their telltale yellow cards on the first day of school as the more experienced upperclassmen look on.

Upper right: Jazzing it up, members of our "venerable" faculty show their "mad" attire after the sectional pep session.

Lower right: The fans scream their delight after the Archer eleven score a touchdown.

Upper left: It rather looks like a cheerleading convention, and it might well be, as all the city yell leaders come out to back the Archers at the Regional pep session.

Middle left: Totem agents line up on the final day of the circulation campaign to turn in last-minute payments of those who like to live dangerously.

Lower left: It's hard to tell what Janet Hicks thinks of her flower arrangements for the junior prom, "Southern Soiree."

Upper right: These flags of foreign countries, some of them carried by students from those countries, were an impressive sight at the Thanksgiving assembly.

Middle right: Susie Ehrman, Spirit of South Side, and these smiling misses officiated at Recognition Day ceremonies last year.

Bottom left: "Aren't my mittens lovely," asks Molly Dixon; but Mike Gilsdorf and Sue Sappenfield seem more interested in Merle Baldwin's homework.

Bottom right: Marcia Mosel at a music assembly sings a complaint about the trouble she had when she tried to take a trip to Morrow.

Upper left: "We gather together" at the Thanksgiving Assembly, which was one of the best in South's history.

Upper right: Are these three Greek goddesses? Mary Jane Spindler, Judy Estlick, and Jan Martindale clown at a church retreat.

Center right: "A-one-ana-two" . . . Mr. Drummond gives the downbeat at a music assembly.

Center right: "Ho hum," says Sue Sappenfield, who, for some strange reason, likes to sleep on desks.

Lower right: "Um-m-m, these are good!" Janet Hicks, Marijo Edwards, and John Hendricksen don't seem to be working very hard.

Lower left: WOG is pleased with the contemporary card and rocking chair, which is inscribed "May You Rest in Peace" presented to him by two of his homeroom students at the time of his retirement.

Upper right: "Bloody Mary is the Girl I Love" sing the boys' quartet at the Junior Banquet.

Upper left: "Now how did that get there?" these observers seem to be saying. It's just a hole in the middle of Darrow Street, dug to aid sewer repairmen.

Middle left: Elaine Edwards and other hardworking agents steal early glances at The Times before commencing the folding job.

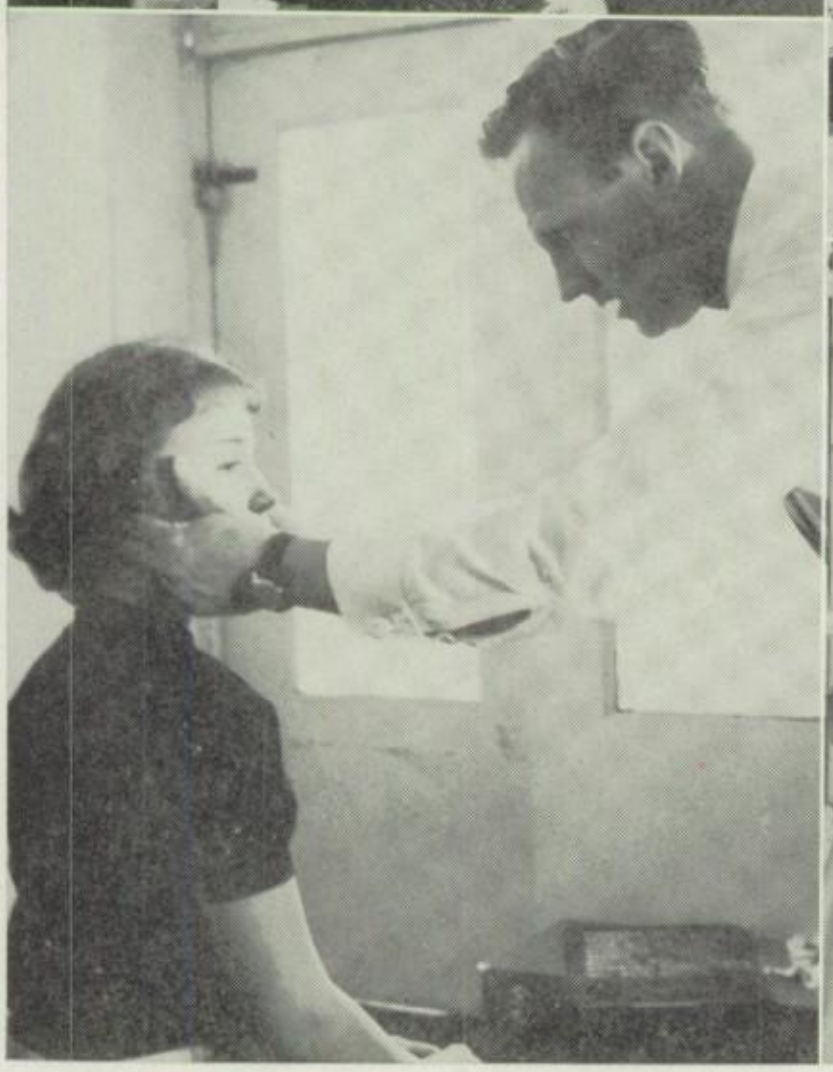
Upper right: Conducting a tour of the Times offices, Judy Novitsky seems to be more interested in the press room monsters than these parents on Back-to-School Night.

Middle right: These mothers are representative of many during the refreshment hours after the four PTA Teas last fall.

Lower right: Mike Church listens attentively as Mr. Weber explains some most technical-looking scientific matter.



Upper left: Susie Horth, Ann Golden, and Elaine Edwards lend a hand to Sharon Carrel while working on the decorations for the Meterite after-game dance.

Lower left: "A little this way," says the photographer as he prepares to take Ann Eversman's underclass picture.

Upper right: Molly Dixon and Pam Holtzberg seem to be enjoying themselves immensely while performing in the program for their junior banquet.

Upper right: Recognition Day brings honors to a senior girl. Martha Milnor and Janet Hicks, seniors of 1959, assist with the ribbons.

Lower right: Susie Ehrman, the "Spirit of South Side," presents the Randolph Jacobs Trophy to Marina Cielens.

Sports

Wayne Scott, better known as "Scotty", is always working hard for the betterment of the athletic department of the school. He has served very willingly in his position as athletic director and assistant to the coaches in preparing schedules and purchasing new equipment. He is seen here demonstrating one of the new ultra-sonic massagers that the athletic department installed this year.

Scotty, Managers Serve Teams Well

The equipment managers are generally behind the scenes, but their job is important to the athletic department. They perform their duties of issuing equipment, keeping it in good condition, and maintaining an account of all the athletic equipment used.

Gridders Battle to 3-4-1 Finish

With plenty of spirit and fight the prospective football players turned out in full force for the first practice in mid-August. After three hard weeks of practice, the team entered the Annual Football Jamboree and met a powerful Central team, but played to a scoreless tie. As the season progressed, the team met many tough opponents and ended the season with three wins, four losses, and one tie. The tie game was by far the most exciting, for South met the powerful, undefeated Huntington team and managed to knot them up.

Bill Meyer, a very speedy halfback, seemed to be the big gun for South this year. Bill scored 56 points to lead the city in scoring. His big game was against Mississinewa in which he made five touchdowns.

Bill Meyer was elected to the first string of the All-City team, and Dick Tipton was picked for the second string.

"City, Sectionals, Regionals" was the cry for the fourth straight year. The basketball team, guided by Coach Don Reichert, proved with a record of 22-5 that it was a better team than many people had expected.

Tom Bolyard, Nick Demetre, and Dave Barrett were named to the All-City basketball squad.

The coaches are shown here conferring on strategy for an upcoming game as Coach Reichert explains plans to Wayne Scott, Bill Geyer, and freshman coach Charles "Porky" Holt.

Upper left: Don Kern and Dave Reece finish strong in the sectional cross-country run. Partly due to their efforts, the cross-country team won a berth to State.

Lower left: Tom "The Bomb" Bolyard through sensational playing broke every Allen County high school scoring record. His single-season scoring record of 583 topped all others, and having 48 points for a single game, 125 points in sectional play, and 62 points in the Regionals also established new records. Including tournaments, Tom's total score for the past season reached an all-time high of 803. With 1,420 points throughout his basketball career, he surpassed the 1,139 record.

Upper right: Joe Roth makes a baton pass to Tom Bolyard in the sectional mile relay run which South won.

Lower right: Bill Meyer makes an anxious grab for the ball during the hard-fought Kokomo-South game while Dave Barrett comes to his aid.

Tennis

The South Side tennis team, coached by Everett Havens, seemed to be very strong again this year. Three boys returned from last year's squad, John Meyerholz, Steve Meyer, and Bob Haag. Dave Bosselman, Steve Tracey, and Dave Briggs comprised the rest of the team. The squad faced usually rugged opposition over their nineteen-match schedule which is as follows:

April	1	Central Catholic	Here
	9	Peru	There
	13	Marion	Here
	14	Concordia	Here
	15	Bluffton	There

Golf

South Side's golf team saw a big season this year. The entire squad of 1958 returned. The members in the picture at the right are front row, left to right, Tom Graham, Bing Gilardi, and Bill Berning; back row: John Biteman, Bill Platka, Dave Stewart, Jack Winder, and John Irmsher. Warren Hoover, in his first year as golf coach, led the team through a tough schedule which is as follows:

April	17	Garrett	There
	23	Decatur	There
	27	Muncie	There
May	4	Marion	There
	7	City Tourney
	13	Garrett	Here
	13	Triangular Meet	Here
	15	Decatur	Here
	16	Sectionals

Concordia was also on the schedule but the date for the meet was still undecided at the Totem deadline.

The Agile Archers

The South Side cross-country team under the direction of Charles "Porky" Holt did a marvelous job of running. They ended the season breaking even, five wins and five losses.

The team's success can be attributed to the fact that the boys worked as a team and no one seemed to dominate the races every time. Ed Hartman did a great job as expected. Al Rainbolt, a very speedy sophomore, came across the finish line first many times. Dave Reece, who joined the team late, was a big reason why South earned a trip to Indianapolis to participate in the State C.C. Contest.

On November 1 the team traveled to South Grove Golf Course in Indianapolis and placed twenty-seventh. The team had impressive scores over Concordia twice, with 22-33 and 24-33; over Wabash, 22-23; and in a triangle meet over New Haven-Bluffton, 19-38-101.

COACH ROBERT GERNAND

Of Track, Cross-Country

Robert Gernand, in his first year as head track coach, experienced a fine season. Lettermen Ken Howe and Win Moses in the hurdles, Tom Bolyard in the half-mile, Joe Roth and Bob Shine in the quarter-mile, Eddie Hartman and Al Rainbolt in the mile, Jim Dawson, Dave Roderick, and Gary Gardner in field events, provided strong competition for the city foes to make our season successful.

Sports Within

The Intramural program has been a part of South Side for 30 years, having been inaugurated by the late Mr. Louis Briner in 1929. Not only does this department offer a great variety of sports in which all boys may compete, but also it has three weight divisions in which boys of approximately the same height and weight may compete on a near-equal basis.

This method of fair competition, along with the point system which enables the boys to earn letters for their participation, is a factor which has produced an increase in participation and popularity of the Intramural program in the past six years.

Of the many sports which the department offers, such as golf, handball, badminton, volleyball, and touch football, the most popular by far is basketball. Altogether, there are 23 sports in the IM program.

South Side has been very privileged to have Mr. Clair Motz as the head man of the Intramural Department for the past seven years. Certainly much of its success would not have been achieved without his capable leadership.

Growing Abler Athletically

This year the race for the high point plaque will be a very close one between Jeannette Lynn and Pat Igney.

The Girls' Athletic Association, sponsored by Mrs. Alice Keegan and Miss Helen Pohlmeyer, is open to any Archer lass interested. With the upperclass meeting on Mondays and the freshmen meeting on Fridays, each girl has an opportunity to participate in a variety of interesting sports with girls of her own age.

By participating in the tournaments and games the girls may win for 300 points a numeral, for 1500 points a letter, and for 2000 points the coveted pin.

One of the biggest events of this year was the annual Spring Show, "The Gay Nineties," in which the dance and physical education classes, the modern dance, and advanced tumbling groups participated. At a Sports Party, all of the awards were presented.

Bottom: The girls in the advanced tumbling group also participated in the Spring Show with a routine on the trampoline called "Rock-a-bye, Baby."

Clubs

Safety Council

The Safety Council, made up of representatives from each club and each of the four classes, is set up to promote individual, school, and community safety. The club is sponsored by Miss Virginia Ayers and Mr. Glen Stebing.

Top: Joan Littlejohn speaks to the Safety Club on the importance of being aware of danger areas.

Upper center: Carolyn Dinius, Sandra Landree, and Joan Littlejohn present the members a chart on which will be recorded the "casualties" among South Side students.

Red Cross

The purpose of Junior Red Cross is to help people by learning the ways of kindness, by earning the wealth that can be shared by others, by caring for others, by sharing with others, by reaching out across our own country to others around the world, and by teaching the ways of freedom. Mr. John Arnold is the sponsor of Junior Red Cross.

Lower center: Susan Getty, Beth Golden, Carol Jekel, and Marilyn Budd admire the decorations as they sip refreshments at the Junior Red Cross annual Valentine party.

Bottom: Holding the toys collected and repaired for underprivileged children are, standing, Diane Kimble, Susie Hoard, Susie Carto, and Barb Wallace; seated: Pam Holtzberg, Beth Golden, and Judy Cramer.

Art Club

Each year the members of South Side's artistic association strive to demonstrate the possibilities of art in every-day life. The club sponsor, Mrs. Ruth Fleck, lends guidance.

Top: Members of the Art Club reflect various reactions to an example of modern art at the Fort Wayne Art Museum.

Upper middle: Samples of the work done by each Art Club member are brought periodically to display to the other members. Here students criticize and admire each other's work.

Booster Club

The Booster Club serves the school and its teams by serving refreshments at the football and basketball games. The proceeds go for the general use of the school. The Booster Club is sponsored by Miss Rowena Harvey, with Miss Mabel Fortney and Miss Frances Stobaugh in charge of concessions, and Mr. Raymond Quance as manager of the yell leaders.

Jr. Academy

Junior Academy of Science is organized to create, maintain, and extend an active interest in scientific and mathematical pursuits. Mr. Donald Weaver, Mr. Robert Weber, and Mr. Louie Hull serve as sponsors of the club.

Top: Halley Stout, seated, Greg Adakov, and Bob Simmons, standing, listen intently as Mr. Weaver explains a geometric problem to them.

Center: Bob Simmons explains a new intergration, an expression in calculus, to members.

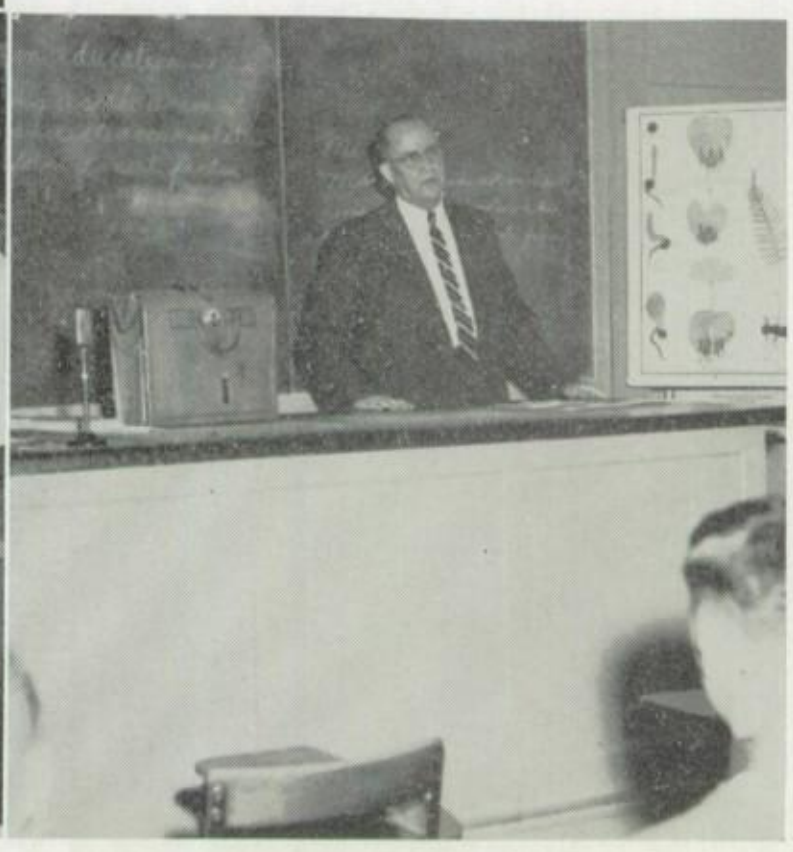
Lower right: Mr. Claude Summers, head of the local General Electric laboratory, lectures on geology of the Grand Canyon.



Designers Associated

Designers' Associated meets primarily to study and work on the designing of automobiles and houses, as well as general drafting. Mr. Thomas Polite serves as adviser.

Upper right: Jim Howard is showing the design of a car to Allen Flowers, Jim Roth, Neil Welty, and Tom Cooper.

Cyclotron

Members of South Side's Cyclotron Club, with the help and materials given by local industries and the Atomic Energy Commission, have designed and built one of the four cyclotrons in high schools in the United States.

Lower right: Working at the control board of the cyclotron are members: Dennis Graham, Dave Schele, Mike Church, and Mike Calahan.

Wranglers

Students interested in all phases of speech work find outlets for their interest in Wranglers. This year members participated in speech contests at Purdue, Howe Military School, Ball State Teachers' College, New Haven High School, and North Side High School, and have staged several plays. Mr. Robert Storey is the sponsor.

Top: Presenting a melodrama at the fall talent show are Steve Tracey, Ann Farlow, Nancy Bailey, and Janice Leist.

Center: Wranglers' officers, Patti Arnold, Sharon Hubbell, Nancy Bailey, Janice Leist, Kay Kreachbaum, Joyce Brittenham, Janet Terry, and Geri Geller make plans for an approaching meeting.

36 Workshop

The purpose of 36 Workshop is to discover talent and to plan, write, and present the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter assemblies. The school-wide Spring Talent Show and various club talent shows and plays are also presented by members of 36. The sponsors are Miss Lucy Osborne, Mr. Marvin Knigge, Mr. Jack Morey, and Mr. William Applegate.

Meterites is the "little sister" club of Philo. Freshman and sophomore girls who maintain a B average or better in English are eligible for membership. Throughout the year, members have memorized poetry, given plays, and learned to use their abilities in creative writing. Miss Susen Peck serves as adviser.

Upper right: Meterites pay tribute each year to the new members of the Quarter Century Club. Seated from left to right are the girls who participated in the ceremony: Bonnie Bender, Sally Gelow, Becky Hostetler, Marian McCallister, Merle Baldwin, Carol Purdy, Katie Rastetter, Ann Plogsterth, Sue Sappenfield, Margo Dixon, and Susie Vesey. Second row: Joyce Brittenham, Marsha Eaton, Janet Terry, Joan Stanton, Judy Robinson, Sandra Landree, Susie Slick, and Judy Cramer. Third row: Fran Hoffman, Sharon Possell, Nancy McCarron, Carol Zink, Bessie Ferguson, Caryl Van Ranst, Barbara Frederick, Penny Hunt, and Linda Vollmer.

Center: Mr. Snider pronounces words for the Meterite spelling contest.

Philo

Philo, a club composed of junior and senior girls with averages of B or higher in English, is designed to stimulate an interest in good literature and to promote friendship and high ideals. The girls are under the leadership of Mrs. Evlyn Spray.

Lower right: Crissie Ferguson, secretary, reads the Philo minutes at a cabinet meeting while Linda Wightman, program chairman; Mary Sue Robertson, president; Mary Lou Koehler, vice-president; Pam Havlin, treasurer; and Judy Rumple, sergeant-at-arms, look on.

Lower left: Linda Wightman, Judy Thompson, and Carol Oxenrider participate in the Philo Christmas play.

Hi-Y

Hi-Y, a club for junior and senior boys, is designed to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character. Mr. Robert Weber is the adviser.

Upper: Reigning at the annual Queen of Hearts Dance was Janis Mitchell (center) and her attendants, kneeling, Carol Lockwood and Mary Sue Robertson; standing, Kay Augspurger and Janet Hicks.

Lettermen's

The Lettermen's Club is organized to create and maintain a high standard of character, sportsmanship, and conduct. Membership consists of all varsity letter winners.

Bottom left: Lettermen members as a Christmas project assemble food which the school collected for needy families.

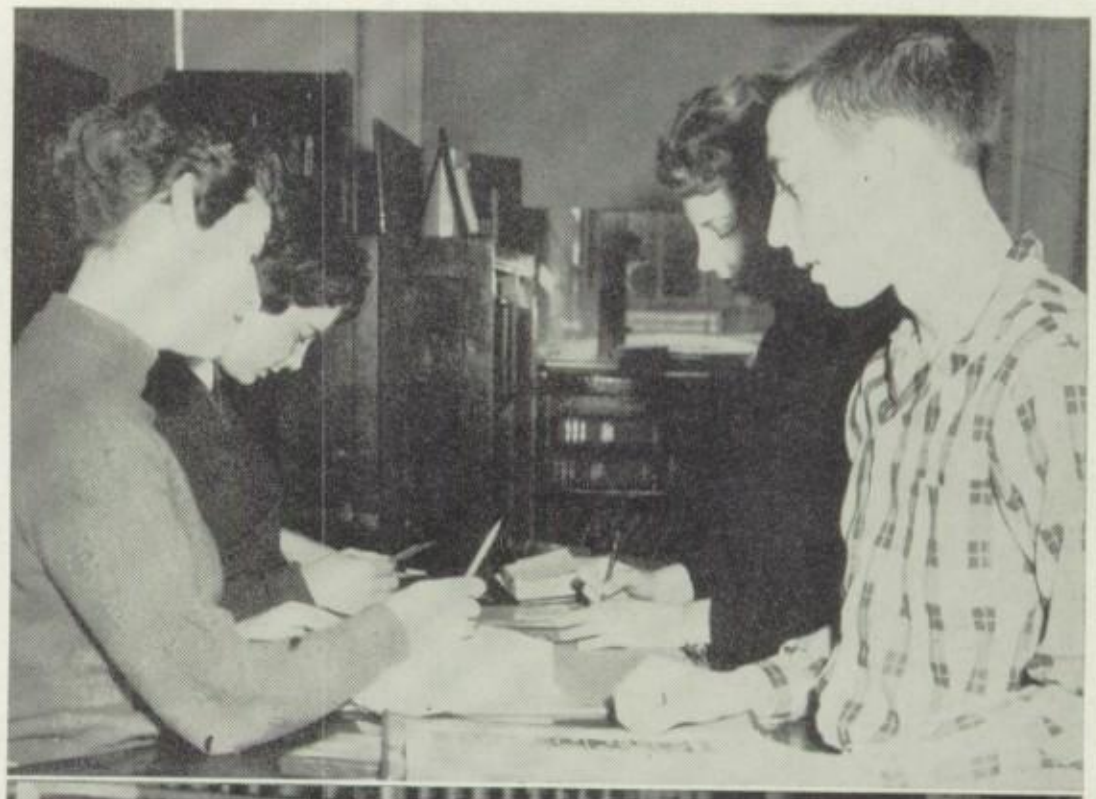
Library Club

The Library Club consists of student librarians organized to assist the head librarian, Miss Willodeen Price, in the everyday work and service of the library.

Top: Jan Derheimer and Iva Dell Anspach, library service workers, check out books for two underclass students.

Center: Returning books to their proper places are Ruth Dill, Sandy Parrott, and Cheryl Habecker.



Service Club

The Service Club performs a valuable function in the work of the school by furnishing aid to the faculty and by developing in students the unselfishness and reliability created by doing work for others. This club holds one social session, an annual potluck, under the direction of Mr. Ora Davis.

Lower left: Jim Jackson presents the Randolph Jacobs Trophy, the Service Club award, to Alice Joy Weddle for her service contributions to the school.

Lower right: Filing cards in the main office are third-period service workers, Nancy Vanderford and Dinah Goodin.

Vesta

Vesta, a club for all girls interested in home economics, is designed to train young women to be better homemakers, to furnish an opportunity through organization for social life, and to promote more interest in home economics. The adviser of the club is Mrs. Robert Gernand.

Top: Bobbi Ray, director of a local charm school, gives grooming and clothing tips to Vesta members.

Upper center: Linda Tomson, Susan Van Fossen, Marianne Pinkham, Martha McChesney, and Mrs. Gernand make clothes for dolls which were collected for orphan girls.

Know-Your-City

Students interested in gaining further knowledge of Fort Wayne's history, buildings, and historical sites create the membership of Know-Your-City Club, which is under the guidance of Mr. Jack Weicker.

Lower center: Ann Wilson, fall semester president, presents gavel to Jim Drummond, spring semester leader, while Steve Wolf, Gary Leips, and Lee Jackson look on.

Bottom: KYC members enjoy a report given by Mr. Weicker at one of the bi-weekly meetings.

So-Si-Y

So-Si-Y creates a friendly cooperation among junior and senior girls as they carry out acts of service and welfare projects. Under the sponsorship of Miss Olive Perkins, the members sell senior name cards and give the Faculty Tea.

Top: Miss Benton, a Y-Teens adviser at the YWCA, speaks to the members of So-Si-Y.

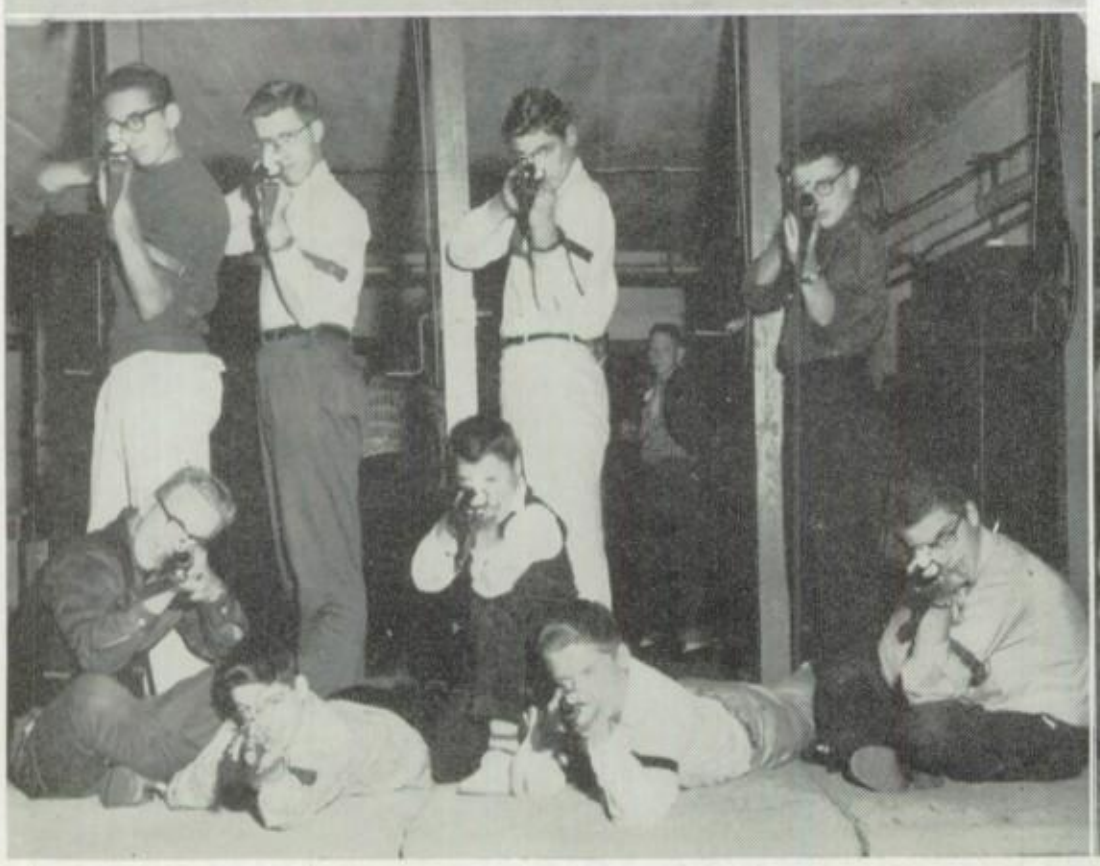
Upper center: The So-Si-Y officers, Dianne Beams, president; Pat Krebs, treasurer; Barb Bailey, secretary; Karen Randall; and Sharon Kidwell, point recorder, conduct a semi-weekly meeting.

USA

The little sister club of So-Si-Y, USA, starts many younger girls in their high school YWCA work. This group, sponsored by Miss Lutie Young, carried on many worthwhile service projects and effective programs while developing a friendly spirit among its members.

Lower center: The officers of USA this year are Sharon Bricker, treasurer; Carol Lewis, president; Emily Traylor, vice-president; and Barbara Uhl, secretary.

Bottom: USA members decorate a box which will contain food collected as a special Thanksgiving project. The food was given to needy families.



Girls' Rifle

Girls' Rifle Club is organized to train girls in marksmanship and to furnish recreation. Mrs. Mildred Luse and Mr. Alfred Hemmer are the sponsors.

Center: Members of the Girls' Rifle Club practice shooting in the prone, kneeling, and standing positions.

Boys' Rifle

Boys' Rifle Club, sponsored by Mr. Stephen Berg, is designed to improve sportsmanship and marksmanship of all boys interested in firearms.

Lower left: In formation, some of the members prepare to practice shooting on the range.

Lower right: Jim Edwards, Bob Stout, Gene Crum, and Dave Welch learn how to operate a rifle.

Visual Education

The Visual Education Club provides various classes with motion projector operators in order that movies can be shown. Mr. Ernest Walker, sponsor, teaches students to operate the projectors.

Top: Betty Pherson and Barb Dennis thread the projector while Paul Freehill, Jack Meese, Mike Hegg, Ray Lerch, and Maurice Marquart look on.

The Camera Club, also sponsored by Mr. Ernest Walker, strives to teach students the fine art of photography. All phases of photography are stressed.

We at South Side have a right to be proud of our weekly publication, The South Side Times, which is published under the direction of Miss Rowena Harvey. The Times, with a staff of 150 students, claimed top honors again in 1958-59 national contests. Among the awards were the Medalist Rating, the highest given by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association; and the International Honor Rating and the George H. Gallup Award presented by Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists.

Both semesters, South Side, with over one hundred per cent, topped North Side and Central in circulation.

Twenty-one seniors, who represented both the Times and the Totem staffs, were appointed to Quill and Scroll. They are Sue Brenn, Crissie Ferguson, Janet Gareiss, Mike Gilsdorf, Eddie Hartman, Janet Hicks, Maria Hilsmier, Mary Lou Koehler, Ron Marker, Martha Milnor, Barbara Miser, Judy Novitsky, Dianne Reiff, John Richardson, Sharon Ruhl, Bob Schmitz, Anne Sherbondy, Phyllis Springer, Bev Stanton, Judy Thompson, and Alice Weddle.

Checking over a story for The Times are Susie Hoard, feature editor, and Barb Steiner, editorial editor.

Sue Sappenfield, news editor, and Sandra Grodrian, girls' sports editor, take a look at story assignments in the assignment book.

Boys' sports editor, Bob Schmitz, gives a few points in writing to his staff. Seated are Steve Rothberg and Bob Schmitz. Standing are Bob King, Jim Carter, Ed Sarver, and Bob Shine.

Giving some witty ideas to columnist Penny Hunt are other columnists, Posy Weilemann and Larry Levy.

Having captured the circulation cup again, the circulation book heads of both semesters show their delight. Seated are Linda Wightman, Sylvia Ehrman, Barb Frederick, circulation manager, Ann Golden, Phyllis Springer, and Beth Golden; second row: Margo Dixon, Carole Fischer, Geri Geller, Janet Terry, Julie Carr, and Kate Rastetter.

An important member of the Times staff is the make-up editor. Ron Marker is busy laying out a page for the Times.

Totem Looks Through South's Doorways

For eight busy months, the Totem staff worked feverishly on organizing and publishing The Totem. The first month brought forth the theme "Through These Portals", with a looking-through-the-doorways idea. After the theme was announced to the staff, ideas for pictures and copy came pouring in.

Class editors got busy on the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior sections, and the hectic flush of matching pictures and names began. Photographers found themselves constantly "on the run" with their cameras, and editors spent the majority of their time looking for photographers.

Alice Joy Weddle and Bev Stanton learned the meaning of a twenty-four-hour day as problems arose; and as April drew near, weekends and vacations lost all previous meaning to all the editors. Finally, however, amidst sighs of relief given by the editors, the last page of the 1959 Totem was whisked away to be taken to the printers.

Choir . . .

This year the choir members enthusiastically welcomed a long-anticipated new addition to their department, a beautiful new Lawry-Lincolnwood organ. The two-manual, blond-finished instrument has fifty stops, which make possible a combination of effects all the way from sleigh bells to bass drums! The organ's utility is greatly increased by a portable carriage built by Mr. Hostetler which makes it possible to use the instrument in any part of the building. In addition, the choir has been fortunate enough to be accompanied by several guest organists during the year.

The choir, under the capable direction of Mr. Lester Hostetler, has performed at a great many concerts this year. Among the most outstanding are the opening of the new Lincolnshire Church and the Fine Arts in Miniature program at Plymouth Church. Also, the group has presented its talents at numerous school assemblies throughout the year.

The reed dispenser, a familiar friend of the clarinet and saxophone players, proves interesting to Mr. Drummond, band and orchestra director.

Orchestra . . .

The members of the band and orchestra have had a very active and rewarding year under the direction of Robert T. Drummond.

The orchestra launched a most ambitious project, Fine Arts in Miniature. This project consisted of six programs presented by the South Side Music Department in collaboration with Plymouth Congregational Church. The varied programs included ensembles, solos, orchestral numbers, and guest performers from other area schools.

Fine Arts in Miniature was established with the purposes of exposing students, parents, and friends of the music department to better music; affording the talented student an opportunity to launch his "musical Sputnik;" and acquainting the public at large with what is being done relative to serious music in our schools. The project was met with much success.

The band was equally successful this year. The members were kept busy providing music for the many games and pep sessions. Both the band and the orchestra participated in the Winter and Spring Concerts and in music assemblies throughout the year. The groups also pitched in to help raise money for necessary equipment by selling candy. The band and orchestra are truly organizations of which South Side can be proud, not only for their presentation of fine music but also for the personal achievement of each of the participants.

Varsity Cheerleaders

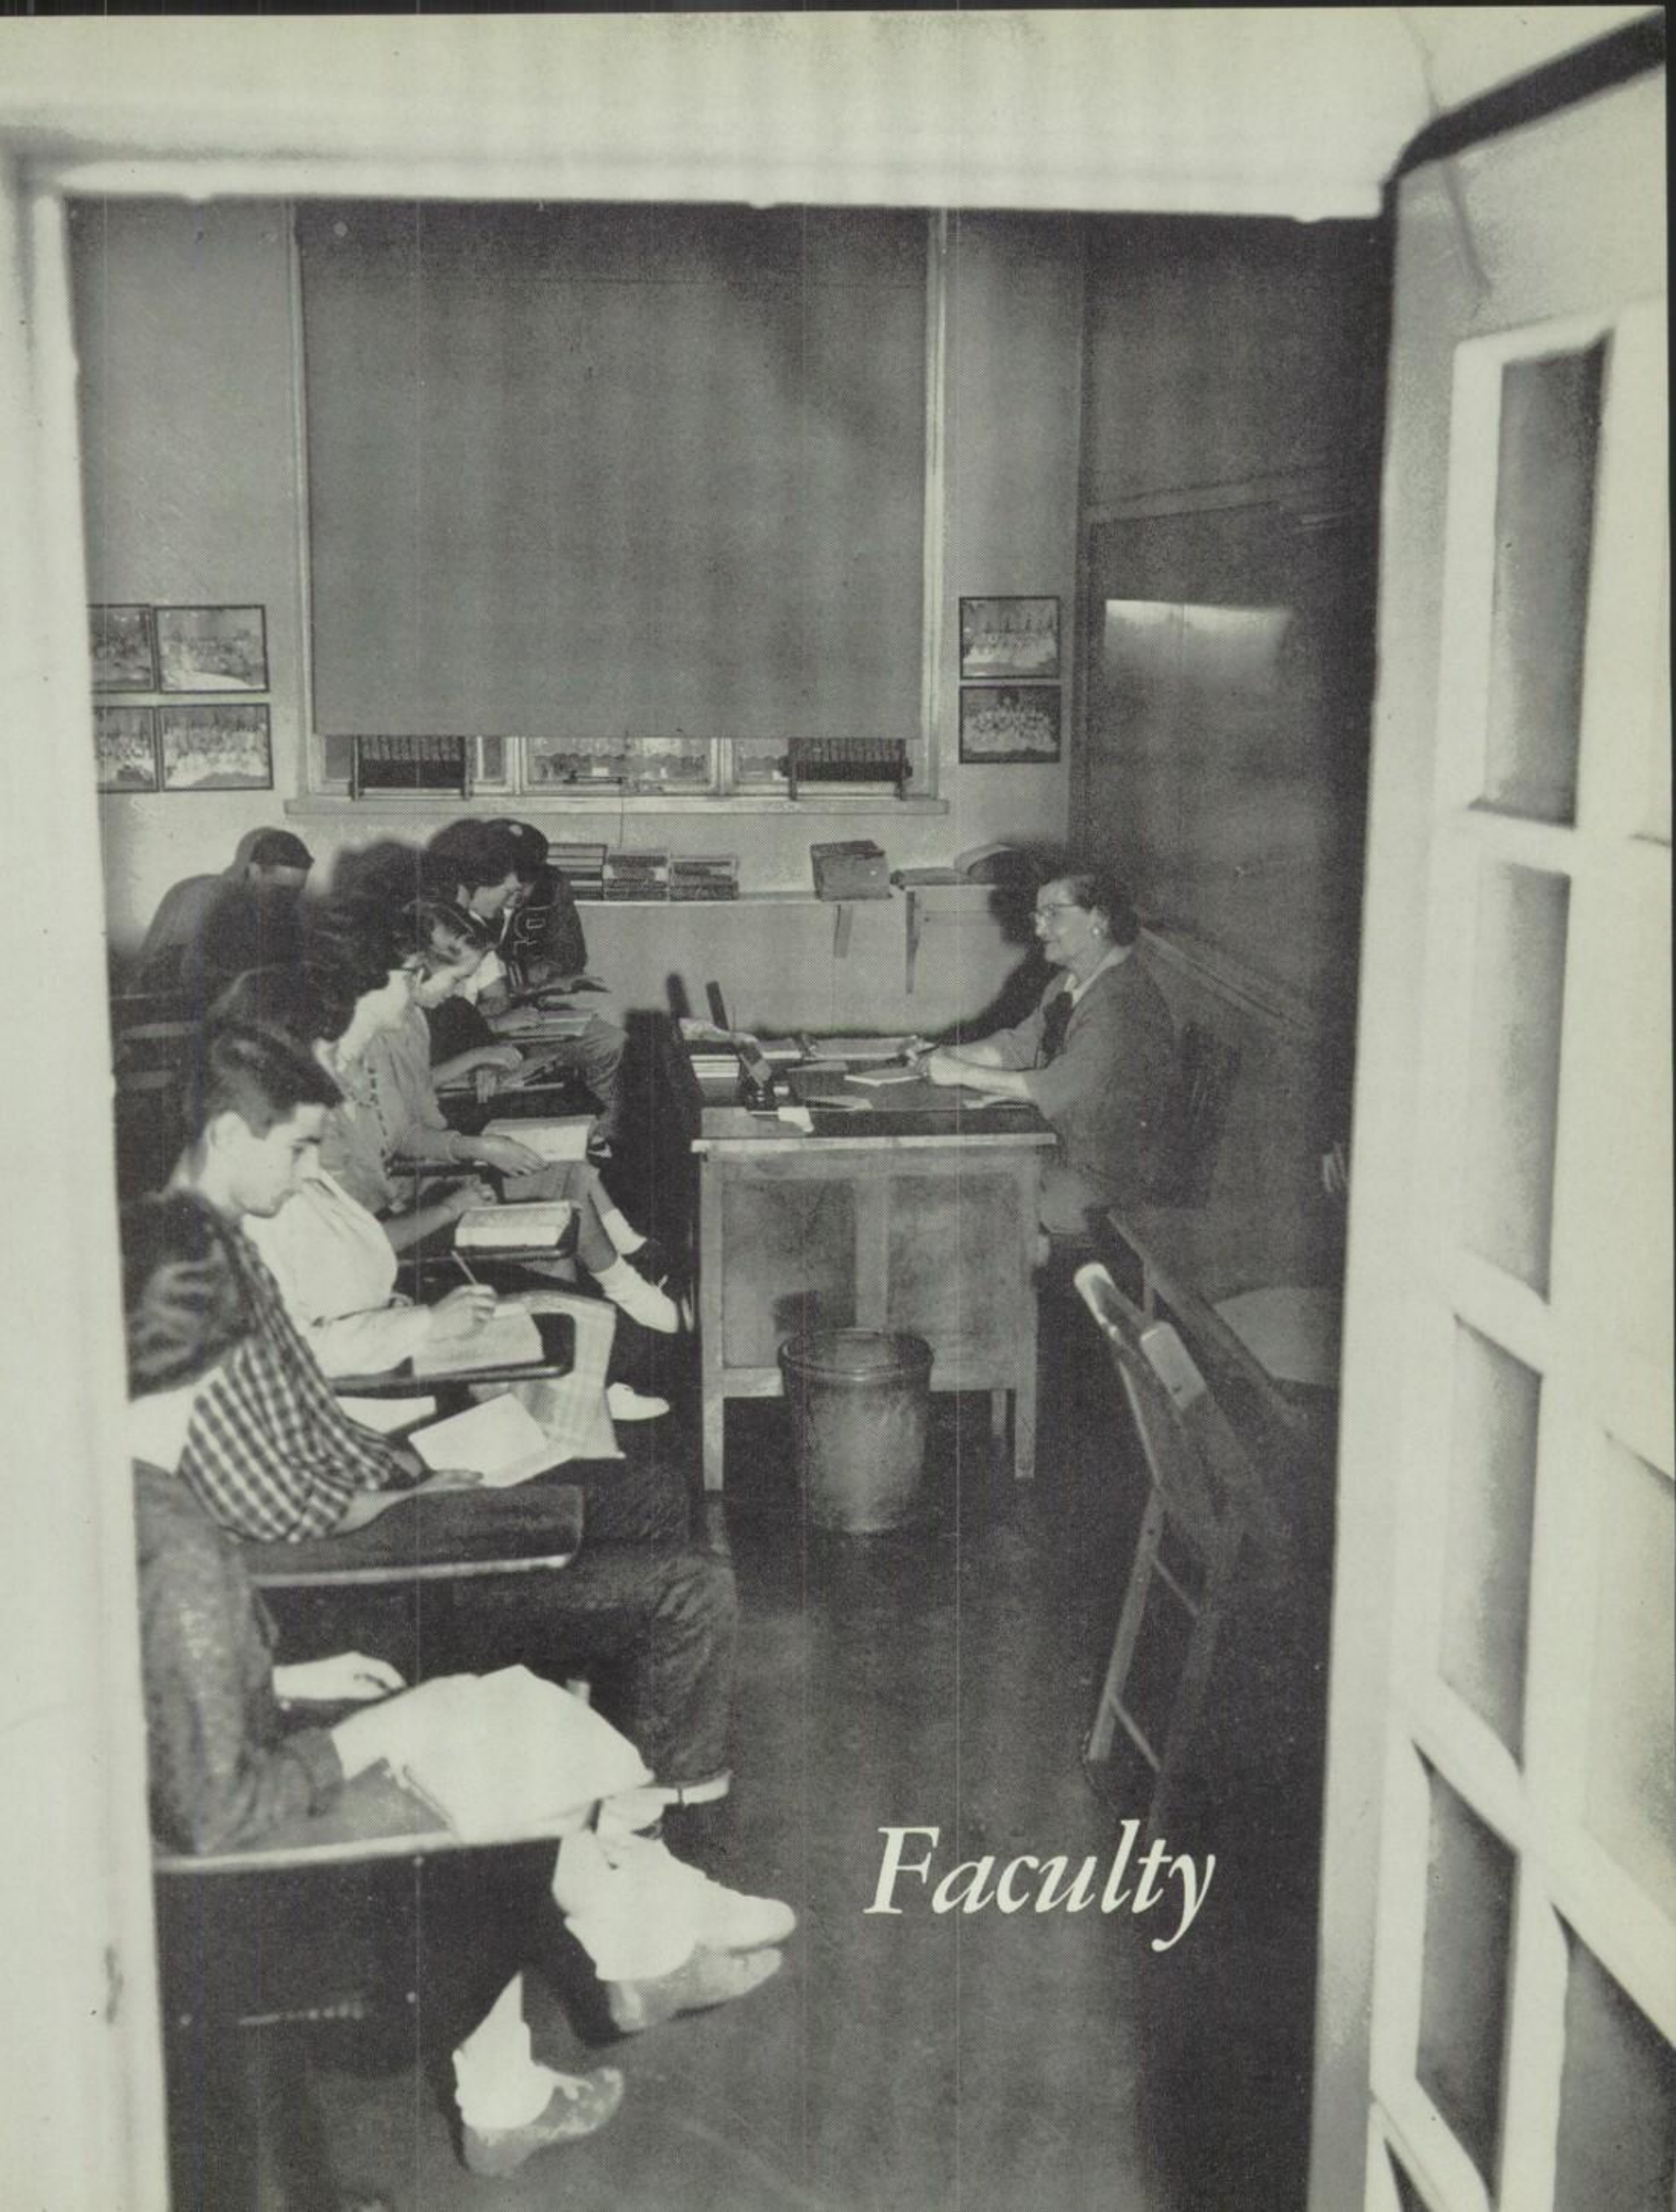
Reserve Cheerleaders

Bottom: Reserve cheerleaders are Barbara Wallace, Sally Dill, Merle Baldwin, Margo Dixon, and Sharon Zelt.



Faculty

Our Chief Executives . . .

By setting up a well-balanced program, our principal, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, has won the admiration and respect of the South Side student body. With his sincere smile, beaming personality, and keen mind, he perceives the future of each senior and advises each boy and girl in his chosen field.

Superintendent of Fort Wayne Community Schools, Mr. A. T. Lindley, is held in high esteem by South Side students as he welcomes them into his office. Being of the highest caliber himself, he impresses upon us the fact that we are depended upon by the community to be future leaders in our city; and therefore he provides the educational opportunities for our steady advancement.

Open the Portals

Patience and understanding are two basic characteristics of our competent dean of girls, Miss Pauline Van Gorder. Because of her individual interest in each student, she leads many wanderers back on the right track.

Advice and information concerning problems that face us as we plan our future can be ours for the asking with our guidance director, Mr. Ora Davis, on hand. He is always happy to assist students in finding their special field and in building a strong foundation for the future.

Mrs. Charlene Young, left, South Side's proficient office aide and book store manager, can usually be found scurrying around the halls, executing her many duties.

Efficiency-plus is the key adjective to describe Miss Frances Stobaugh, South Side's combination registrar, secretary, and handy-woman around the main office. The school runs much more smoothly because she gets things done right, immediately, and pleasantly. A jewel!

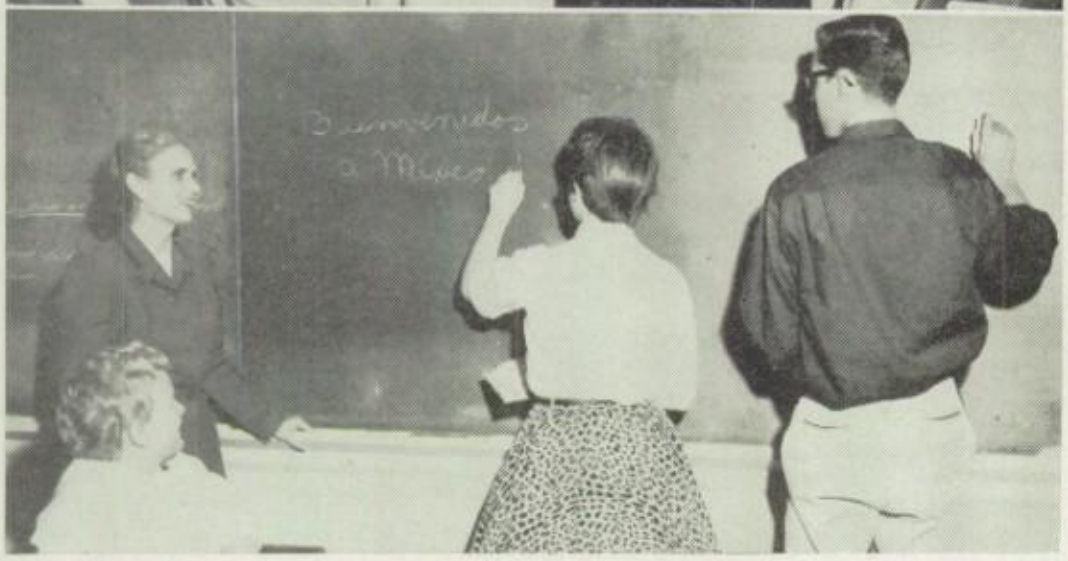
Keys to the Future

Top: Four members of Mr. Storey's Speech 2 class, Judy Reitz, Carolyn Rice, Melvin Smith, and Don Walton, are obviously enjoying a humorous declamation by Dick Baxter. In preparation for the Howe Speech Contest, Dick will accept the criticism of his classmates.

Middle: Analyzing a gerund phrase, Phyllis Springer, a member of Mr. Billiard's English 8 class, takes a final stab at the English sentence. The study of complex grammatical structures and the presentation of hour-long book reviews are two major requirements of the senior English class.

Bottom: Mr. Knigge's students seem to be happy with the results of their recent test on the "Cantebury Tales." English 5 is devoted to an extensive study of the background of early English writers.



It's Greek to Me

Top: Junior B's in Miss Reiff's Latin classes take time out to enjoy pictures of Ancient Rome. These students have mastered the basic fundamentals of Latin and are now translating Caesar's "Gallic Wars."

Middle: The bulletin board in Miss Perkins' French room draws the attention of her period 6 class. First-year students devote their time to vocabulary and basic sentence structure.

Bottom: "Favor de escribir la leccion en la pizarra!" Mrs. Grimshaw is asking two Spanish 3 students to please write their assignment on the blackboard. The class is translating advanced works in Spanish and also attempting to write compositions.

Our Future Scientists

Top: The collection of by-products of coal by means of destructive distillation is being demonstrated in Mr. Hauk's General Science class. They are studying the uses of coal tar and its derivatives in medicine.

Bottom: Mr. Gilbert's Chemistry 1 class is fascinated as he demonstates the proper technique necessary for titration. This demonstration is in preparation for a portion of the laboratory work that is required of each student.

Ants 'N Plants

Top: The frog (in the pan) draws the undivided attention of Mr. Heine's Biology 2 class. This unique frog has had a colored elastic substance injected into its veins for demonstrational purposes.

Bottom: Leaves . . . leaves . . . leaves . . . Anna Mae Chen, Pam Holtzberg, Jane Glass, Doug Geller, and John Heilman classify the leaves they've collected at Foster Park for a scrapbook which Mr. Weber requires from each botany student. The leaves are carefully studied under a microscope and their reproduction is studied in detail.

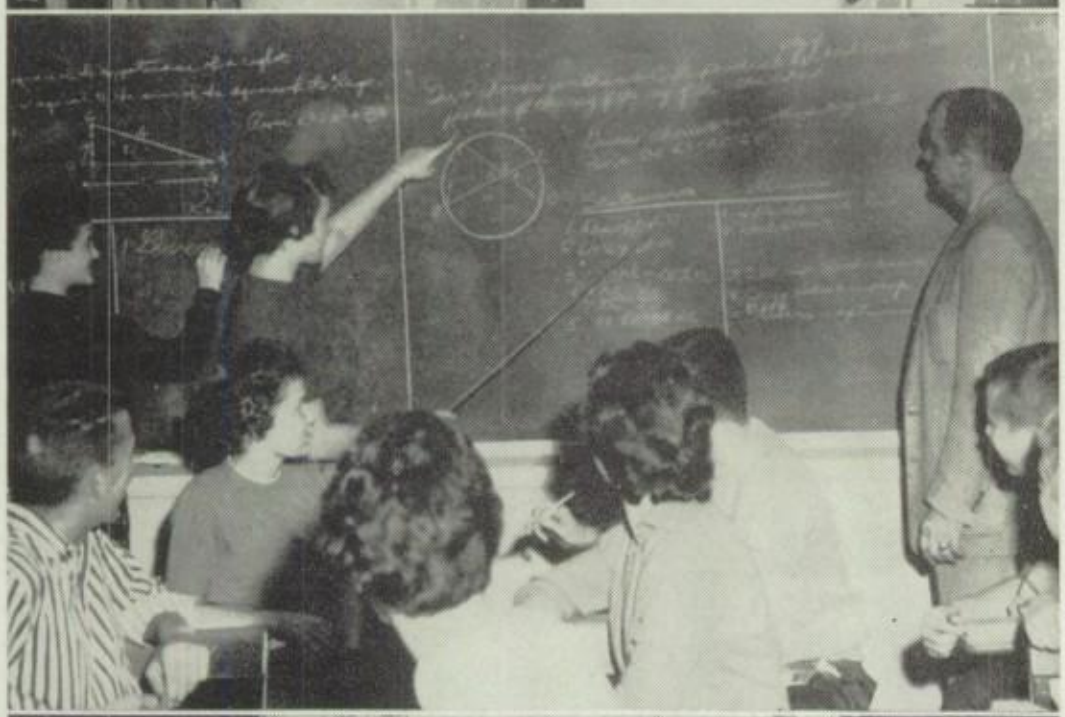
Past and Presidents

Top: Under the direction of Mr. Weicker, Steve Wolf recites in his period 6, United States history class. Every aspect of the history of our country is studied in great detail.

Middle: Mr. Wilson would like to have his Government 2 students realize the connection between past foreign relations and those of the present; therefore they are given ample time to express their personal views. Dick Tipton takes over for a few minutes to share his ideas with the class.

Bottom: Doing his best to pound basic theories into the heads of his Government 1 students, Mr. Wilson devotes a portion of each period to lecturing. This course touches on every aspect of governmental procedure of the United States.



Off on a Tangent

Top: Mr. Leon Smith offers helpful advice to two of his Art 3 students. The class is working on pen and ink fashion designing. Other semester projects include figure drawing, cubism, oil painting, and illustration.

Middle: Nancy Whipple is attempting to prove a proposition in Mr. Cramer's period 6 geometry class. After stating the proposition, drawing an illustration, and stating her purpose, Nancy continues with the proof by presenting statements and geometric reasons.

Bottom: Patty Krebs and Nick Roembke point out the major landmarks of the United States. Miss Mary Crowe feels that the importance of the knowledge of United States geography can not be overly stressed to make a lasting impression.

FRED HELLMAN: University of Nebraska, A.B. and A.M.; Latin.

ALFRED HEMMER: Purdue, B.S.; social studies; Sophomore Class Adviser.

CHARLES P. HOLT: Ball State Teachers College, B.S. and M.A.; physical education, assistant in basketball and track.

CLAIR MOTZ: Manchester College, A.B.; physical education.

Craftsmen and Sew Forth

Top: As Mrs. Gernand offers constructive advice to one of the girls in her sewing classes, Karin Rahden lays a dress pattern on her material. Before long these girls will learn to make advanced articles such as tailored suits and coats.

Middle: Tackling the first step, the boys in Mr. Quance's Wood 3, industrial arts class are cutting plywood for their semester projects. The boys have chosen to make such interesting articles as coffee tables, chairs, beds, chests of drawers, skis, and dog houses.

Bottom: Following plans very closely, these boys in Mr. Bobay's Metal 1, industrial arts class are preparing to use the lathe. This semester their projects include paper weights, C clamps, hammers, and chisels.

Licorice Sticks and Larks

Top: These musically inclined students are rehearsing for Friday's pep session. The South Side marching band is on hand at all home games—both football and basketball—striking up the school song and other pep yells.

Bottom: As the sopranos in advanced choir lead off with the "Barcarole," Hos, South's competent choral director, cues in the altos. These songsters are "coming out of their shells" as they practice the fundamentals and tone enunciation that they were taught in beginning choir.

E. H. MURCH: Albion College, B.S.; Ball State Teachers College, A.B.; Columbia University, M.A.; business.

CLARENCE MURRAY: Ball State Teachers College, B.S.; Indiana University, M.S.; industrial arts.

Measuring Up to Standard

Top: Bobbie Jo Crosby appreciates all the personal attention Miss Covalt can afford to give her. In advanced typing, the students are basically "on their own" to increase skills at their desired speed. Many of these students are typing faster than 60 words per minute and have advanced to the electric machines.

Bottom: As a portion of the yearly health program, each student is accurately weighed and measured. Later in the semester they discuss abnormal conditions of the body and communicable diseases.

Propelling Forces

Top: The entire South Side student body has access to our adequate library facilities during six of the seven class periods as well as before and after school. Miss Price, our competent librarian, goes out of her way to help any student requesting materials or information.

Bottom: "What makes her tick?" asks Mr. Stebing, our nerve-shattered driver's training instructor. All students who are age fifteen and a half are given the opportunity to sign up for the non-credit course. After several discussions on the mechanics of the car, the students are allotted 40 minutes per week to drive.

DONALD REICHERT: Franklin College, B.S.; Indiana State Teachers College, M.A.; social studies; Head Basketball Coach.

Faculty Fiesta

Top: From the looks of things, Mr. Havens and Mr. Hauk have been put to work pouring coffee for their colleagues. All appear to be enjoying themselves as they informally convene for a breakfast to honor teachers who are retiring.

Bottom: Mr. Arney, a member of the maintenance crew, was caught by the photographers as he relaxed with his pipe after the faculty breakfast. This annual get-together takes place Thursday morning in June after final grades are given out on Wednesday.

Pedagogues at Leisure

Top: The many holiday festivities at Archerland include a Christmas party for the faculty. Under the direction of Mr. Hostetler, they join in singing their favorite Yuletide carols.

Middle: At the annual Quarter Century banquet honoring twenty-five-year faculty members, Meterites girls pin the traditional roses on Miss Rinehart, Mr. Snider, and Miss Perkins.

Bottom: "What seems to be the matter, boys?" Do Mr. Motz and Mr. Sidell, at the faculty breakfast in June, have a problem on their hands? It appears as though Mr. Sidell has thought of a solution; but, doubting, Mr. Motz gives him a bewildered look. "Try again, Mr. Sidell!"

Cooks

Custodians

Pressmen

Underclassmen

Freshmen

Top: Enjoying the fire are Debbie Brooke, cutest girl, and Dave Wallace, most handsome boy. The best athletes of the freshman class, Ken Robinson and Jane Ladig, do their part by carrying in wood for the fire.

Upper center: Brenda Dull and Stan Alfeld, best dancers, get ready to waltz to a song composed by Janet Christensen and Karen Simmons, who tied for the honor of best speaker. John McNett, best musician, will accompany them on his saxophone.

Lower center: Sue Horth and Larry Lee, girl and boy who have done most for the school, watch Tom McMahan, boy most likely to succeed, as he imitates Caesar. Babette Jones, girl most likely to succeed, seems to be admiring the likeness.

Bottom middle: Bombs away! thinks Henry Persons, who copped not only the title of class clown but also that of boy with the best personality, as he is caught in the act of throwing a hand grenade at Lynn Neiman, class clown, who is engrossed in a "Mad" comic, and Diane Frederick, girl with the best personality.

Bottom left: 'Tis spring again; and Steve Tharp and Brenda Harper, cutest couple, admire love's age-old symbol carved on a tree.

Bottom left: Barb Brown, best girl athlete, shows Dick Rothberg, boy most likely to succeed, the fine art of bean bag throwing. Dick was also voted best speaker and the boy who has done most for the school.

Upper right: Mr. Yoder seems immovable as Carol Lytle, Tom White, and Cheryl Habecker plead for passage through the hall.

Center right: What could possibly look so dim to four serious senior girls, Judy Boyer, Alice Joy Weddle, Carol Lytle, and Diane Decker, at a pre-game party during sectionals?

Bottom right: Bob Thompson and Sam DeHaven appear to be more interested in reading than folding The Times.

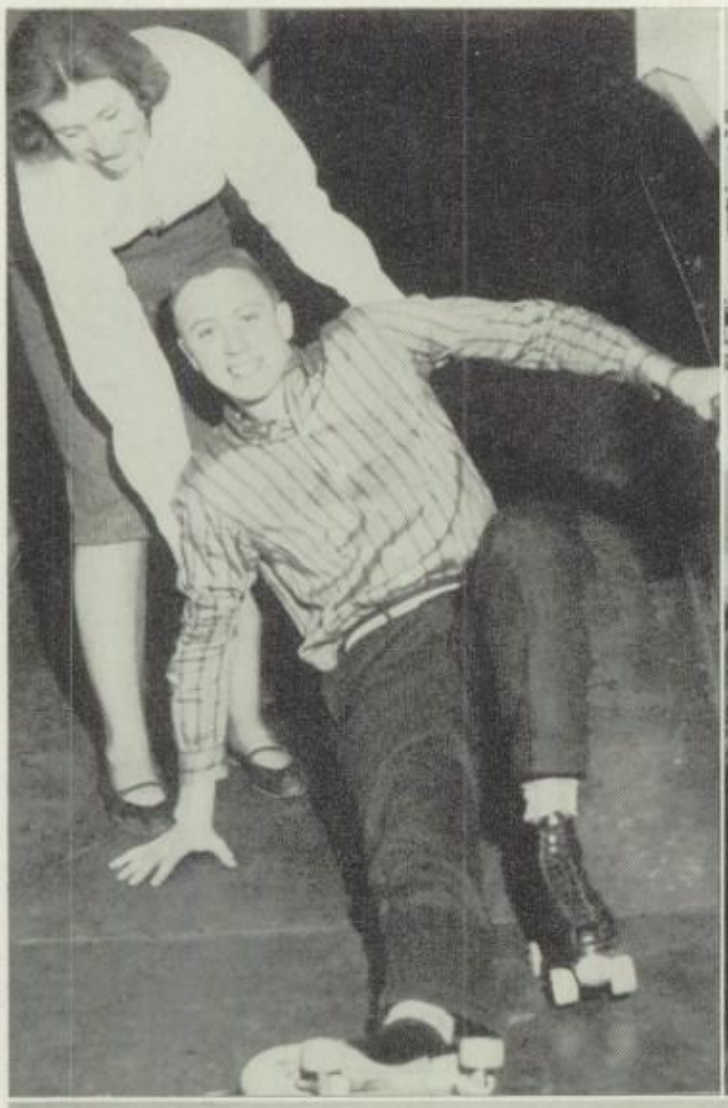
The Best

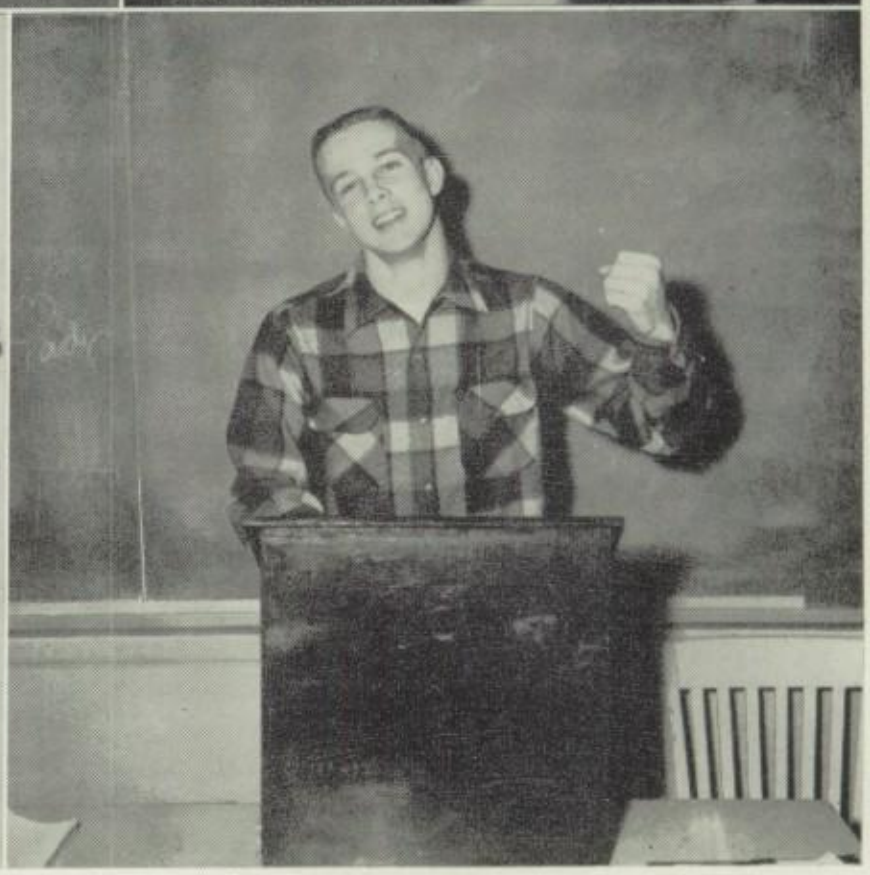
Upper left: Mike Gilsdorf and Janet Hicks, boy and girl who have done the most for the school, serve John Hendricksen, best personality. Janet was also chosen the "personality" girl.

Lower left: Going back to the days of Sir Walter Raleigh, Bob Mann and Tom Graham assist Patti Arnold and Susie Starr. Tom and Susie are the cutest couple, and Patti and Bob, the most perfect lady and gentleman.

Upper right: Dick Johnson and Barbara Ronan, most handsome boy and cutest girl, show two of their baby pictures in order to disprove the old saying that the cutest babies turn out to be the ugliest adults.

Lower right: Gazing into a crystal ball to see what lies in their futures are Sharon Ruhl and Mike Simmons, girl and boy most likely to succeed.





In Their Fields

Lower left: It may be a mystery to you; but the sign Dick Tipton and Carol Lockwood, best dancers, are tacking up is supposed to announce their new dancing school.

Upper center: Mickey McClead, best musician, doesn't seem to be very worried about getting any sort of a tune from his varied collection of instruments.

Upper right: Bill Meyer, best boy athlete, tries a letter jacket on Pat Igney, best girl athlete, to see if she can look as well as act her part.

Lower right: Hoy McConnell, best speaker, gives his views on an important question of the day.

On the Threshold of Their Future

Twice in 1955 the doors of South Side opened and closed to admit us as freshmen, destined to become the class of 1959. Only a little awed by the new rooms and strange faces, we plunged into the work and activity of the school. Our first opportunity to show what we could do came in the fall of 1955 when the "Freshman Frolic" was held in the gym. Our parents got a chance to meet our many new friends, and several of us had opportunity to demonstrate our talents.

The next big event for the Class of '59 was "Big Top Twirl," the Sophomore party. Under the direction of our class officers, Carol Lockwood, president; Janet Hicks, vice-president; Tom Bolyard, secretary-treasurer; and Jerry George, Hoy McConnell, and Mike Simmons, social council, and our class advisers, Mr. Marion Feasel and Mrs. Evlyn Spray, the party was a "regular circus."

"Anchors Aweigh," the Junior banquet, at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church, was a festive affair from the jaunty blue and white decorations to the enjoyable talent numbers which were presented. Then it seemed only a few days until the Junior Prom at which couples danced in the setting of a "Southern Soiree." This was also the year that we cheered our team to the state basketball championship in Indianapolis.

The next year, we, the freshmen of 1955, now high and mighty seniors, started on our last round of studies, extra-curricular activities, and social events, after having elected as our officers, Bill Meyer, president; Carol Lockwood, vice-president; Bob Mann, secretary-treasurer; and Tom Bolyard, Jerry George, and Hoy McConnell, social council, and Miss Mary Graham and Mr. J. H. McClure, advisers.

The Senior Reception, Alumni Dance, and Senior Banquet followed each other so rapidly that we scarcely had time to realize that these were things we had looked forward to since our freshman year. Guided by Eddie Hartman, Judy Novitsky, Steve Tracey, and Janet Hicks, we fondly recalled at our banquet outstanding happenings during our years at South Side.

In April came the Senior Play, and the walls rang with laughter at the antics of Dave Dunstone and his fellow actors. Tension ran high as we awaited the decision on the Ivy Day Queen and her attendants. Soon it was our turn to walk in the procession that we had watched from the sidelines for three years.

Proud and dignified in our gray robes and mortarboards, we marched into the gym on Recognition Day to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance." In a few days we had reverently attended Baccalaureate Services, whirled to the music at the Senior Prom, and received our diplomas at Commencement Exercises.

For the last time we walked through doorways into rooms that were now dear and familiar to us. Classrooms, the Times room, the chemistry lab, the choir and orchestra rooms, all were left for new students. In a few months, or maybe a few days, we will pass through new portals, those of a college, a business school, or an office.

Saddened by the thought that we leave the doors of South Side, many of us never to return, we are gladdened by the realization that we will never be able to close behind us the doors that were opened for us into new fields of study and new kinds of knowledge during our years in high school.

Upper left: Grinning from ear to ear, members of National Honor Society applaud as Nancy Bailey pins the long-desired green and white ribbon on John Meyerholz.

Lower left: Two valiant Romans, Eddie Hartman and Bob Keegan, battle it out with swords and shields at the pep session put on by the Latin Department.

Upper right: "A penguin bit me," screams Patti Arnold to Dave Dunstone during a rehearsal of the senior play, "The Man Who Came to Dinner." Judy Thompson, Mahmoud Abouzeid, and Bill Sutter don't seem to be giving poor Patti much sympathy.

Center right: Carol Lytle, Sara Hindman, and Susie Starr graciously serve coffee and cake to a line of students and parents at the Senior Reception.

Lower right: Barb Miser and her mother are greeted by Mr. J. H. McClure, Miss Mary Graham, and the senior class officers at the Senior Reception.

And so another year has been completed. The 1959 seniors pass forth from these doors; but as their footsteps fade away, it seems that we can hear the tread of thousands of others to come in the future. Some of them have been here already and will return to their places in the fall. Others are just beginning their climb to high school by taking their first steps this year . . . . faltering steps, but leading inevitably through these portals.

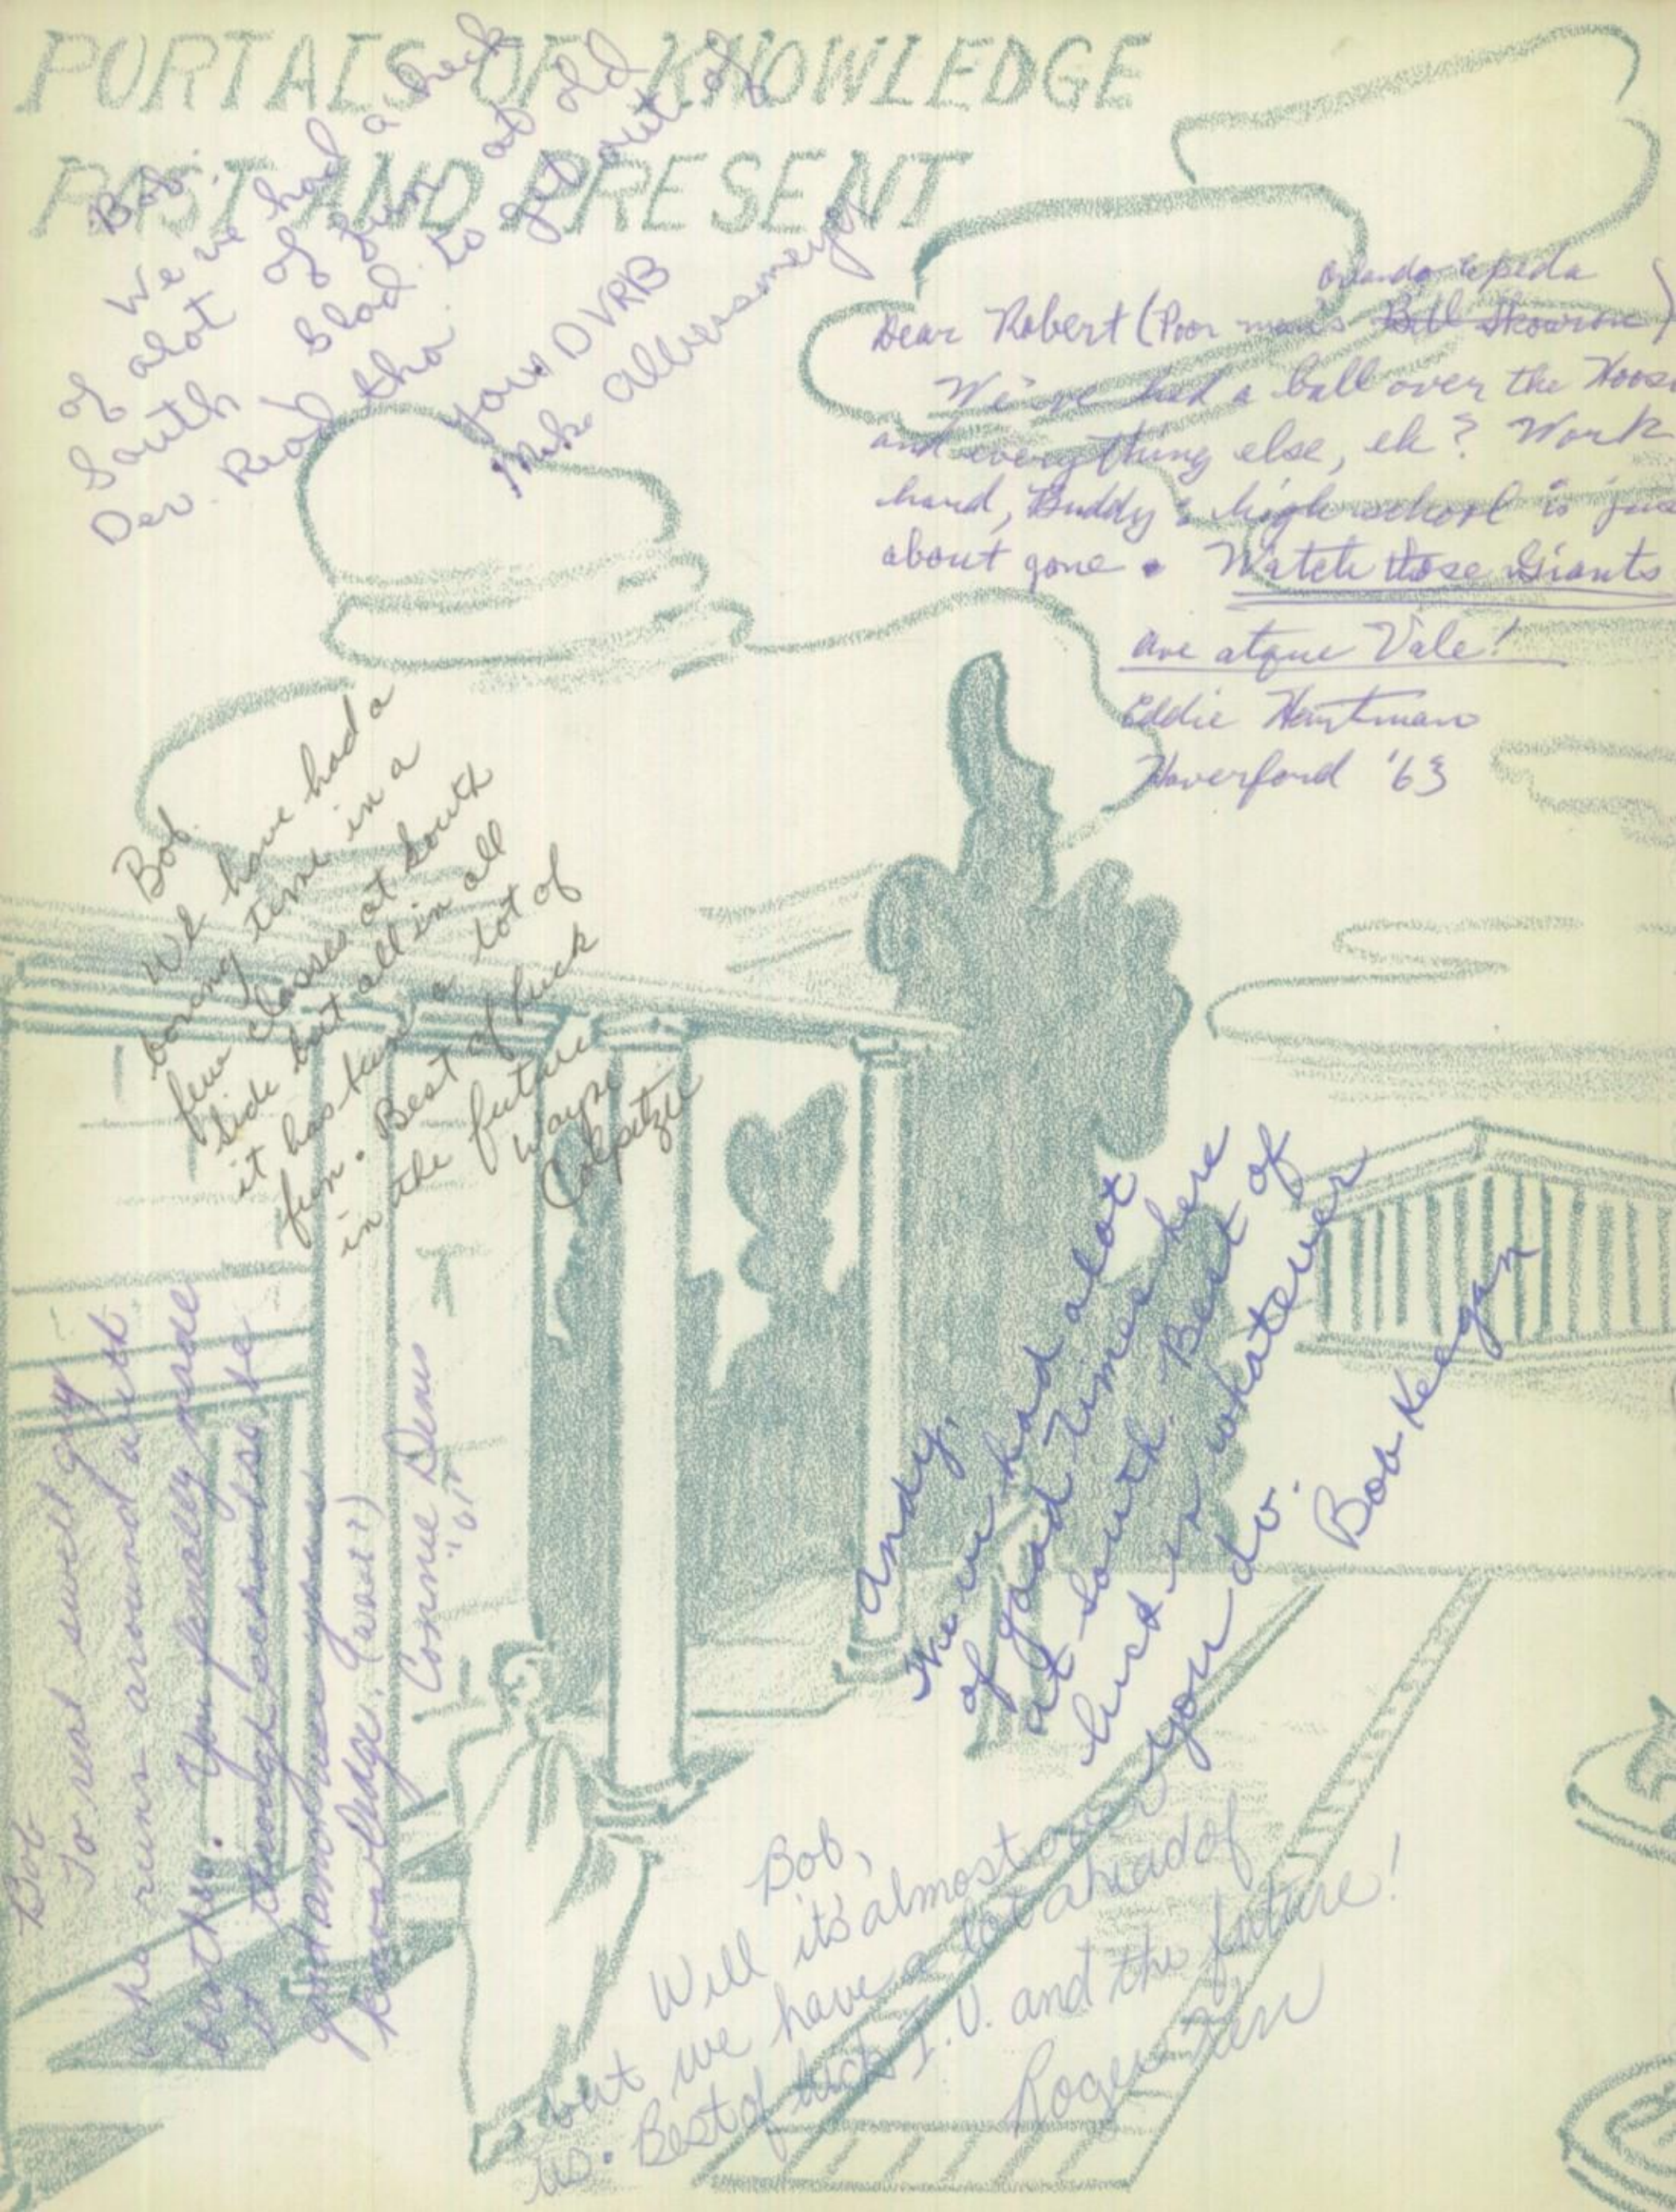
PAST AND PRESENT



Bob
We had a long time in a few classes at South Side but all in all it has been a lot of fun. Best of luck
in the future
Wayne Colpitts

Bob
So real sweet girl. We were around a little bit. Hopefully more to come. Good luck in the future, (want?)

Andy,
We've had a lot of good times here at South. Best of luck in whatever you do.
Bob Keegan

Bob,
Will it's almost over but we have a lot ahead of us. Best of luck in I.U. and the future!

Dear Robert (Poor man's Bob Hoover)
Orlando Tepida
We've had a ball over the hoos and everything else, eh? Work hard, Buddy - high school is jus about gone. Watch those Giants

Bobby,
a real nice
fellow in my geography and English class. I wish you a lot of happiness and success at Indiana University and throughout life.
Ron Hyman

I've really enjoyed knowing you. I wish you all the luck in the world!
Margo Wilson

Bob,
Del always think of you as Andy. You are a very sweet boy. I like your sincerity and sense of humor. See you this summer. Good luck at IU.
